Hello, dear viewers!

Today we're taking you on an extraordinary journey – to the heart of the Atlantic – to the Canary Islands!

You'll meet seven beautiful sisters – each different, each unique. Ready? Let's get started!

Tenerife

Hello! I'm Tenerife – the largest of the islands.

I'm famous for the majestic Teide volcano – Spain's highest peak!

We have wonderful beaches, water parks, Loro Parque, and incredible carnivals – almost like Rio! I'm also famous for delicious local delicacies and have a tradition of greeting each other by honking my horn.

I invite you to climb, sunbathe, and... take a million photos!

Gran Canaria

Hi, I'm Gran Canaria – an island of a thousand landscapes!

I have sand dunes in Maspalomas, mountains in the center, and beautiful beaches all around.

People say I'm like a small continent – everything in one place!

Come and fall in love with my diversity!

Lanzarote

Hey! I'm Lanzarote – mysterious and volcanic.

Here you'll find Timanfaya National Park with landscapes reminiscent of Mars! I'm also famous for my volcanic lava fields and volcanic vineyards, where grapevines grow in special depressions on volcanic ash.

My cottages are white, and the nature is raw and beautiful.

I'm unlike any other – perfect for nature and art lovers.

Come see the fire from beneath the earth!

Fuerteventura

Hello! I'm Fuerteventura – a paradise for surfers and beach lovers!

I have the most beautiful, longest beaches – light sand and turquoise water. I'm famous for my natural park with impressive desert dunes. The wind blows strongly here, but it's this wind that brings me visitors from all over the world.

If you love the sun and sports – you absolutely must visit me!

La Palma

Hello! I'm La Palma – green and peaceful.

They call me "La Isla Bonita," meaning the beautiful island.

My skies are so clear that astronomers have built the largest telescopes here!

I have forests, volcanoes, and the wonderful Caldera de Taburiente Park. I have rare underwater rock formations, caves, and tunnels.

Here you can truly relax and gaze... at the stars.

La Gomera

Hi, I'm La Gomera – mysterious and wild.

I have an ancient laurel forest – like something out of a fairy tale! I have numerous gorges and canyons that create spectacular landscapes. Giant lizards also live here.

It was from here that Columbus sailed to America.

And did you know that my inhabitants speak a special language... whistled?

Visit me – you'll hear the island speak!

El Hierro

Hey! I'm El Hierro – the smallest, but very unique.

I'm almost entirely eco-friendly – powered by wind and water! I have a pristine, mountainous landscape with solidified lava, steep rocky coastlines, wild cliffs, and lush pine forests. I'm surrounded by crystal-clear waters, perfect for diving.

If you want peace, adventure, and a sense of nature – I'm the place for you!
